Mrs. Leonard Wood, wife of the senior Major General of the United States Army, wore two service stripes and a cross bar on her left arm yesterday, as she received Prince Tokugawa and the nine members of the Japanese Red Cross Commission at the Model Work Room of the New York County Chapter at 20 East Thirty-eighth street. Each of the stripes represented 1,000 hours of voluntary work for the American Red Cross, and the cross bar showed that the work began in 1914. The women in the department also wore the same kind of service badges, and the chief thing that interested the Japanese visitors was the part that women are taking in the war programme without requiring the direction of men.

City Using 100,000,000 Gal lons a Day More Than Last Year.

There is no danger of New York got thirsty or bathless for lack of water.

The activity of the Department Water Supply, Gas and Electricity starting a campaign for the stopping leaks and the conservation of water New York does not mean that the city facing a water famine, by any means but it does mean that the city is facing the necessity of paying out $1,500,00 more a year for pumping expense unless New Yorkers are willing to watch their plumbing for leaks and to always turn their faucets off tight.

With the Esopus or Catskill system providing approximately 295,000,000 gal-ions of water daily and the old Croton system and the artesian wells of Brooklyn and Queens capable of providing al-most twice that much each day, there is no possibility of a water famine in New York. But if the depletion of the Kensico distributing reservoir is allowed to continue at the rate of the last few weeks, it will be necessary to open up all of the Croton pumping stations instead of letting gravity do the work free Theodore Roosevelt appointed him to the board for seven years. through the Catakill system. In the year before the Catakill water service was turned on for New York the Croton pumping stations operated by the city burned up approximately 140,000 tons of coal. The department is paying $5.50 a ton for coal and the fuel expense alone would be enormous if the pumps were again started.

Waste Must Be Stopped.

Nicholas J. Hayes, Commissioner of the department, issued a statement ves-terday in which he said flatly that the wilful waste and extravagant use of water in New York must be stopped in these times of war, and at the same time he said that there is no restriction upon the use of water for legitimat purposes. His statement reads:

"The people of this city must be made to realize that it is a duty to conserve the water supply. Extravagant use and wilful waste of water must be stopped, especially in these times when the Gov-ernment is exercising such strict vigilance in the distribution of coal. "The excess consumption of water will.
If not curtailed, compel this department to resume the operation of its pumping stations and will result thereby in a very large consumption of coal, which can be avoided if all will cooperate with this department in preventing wast There is no restrictions upon the use of water for legitimate purposes."

The actual condition of New York's water supply system is this: The Catskill system is at present feeding into the big distribution reservoir at Kensico, just north of White Plains, approximately 375,000,000 gallons of water a day through the siphon squeduct which cuts under the Hudson River at Storm King Mountain, and then on up to the Ashokan reservoir with its 127,000.

This is all of the water the Ashokan Kensico aqueduct can carry, and it is the total amount of water flowing into the Kensico reservoir each day, with the exception of approximately 20,000,000 gallons which come from the Kensico watershed itself. This brings the total daily receipts to 395,000,000 gallons.

Using 640,000,000 Gallons. New York is using close to 640,000,000 gallons of water daily, according to experts in the Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity. Of this total approximately 200,000,000 gril-lons are pumped Croton water. In orgineers who built it guaranteed it to carry. Their figures, he said, were ap-proximately 250,090,000 gallons a day. Yesterday, and for the greater part of lieve, is due to increased manufacturing caused by the war, to waste by the consumer and to leaks caused by high pres-

TOURING BY AUTOMOBILE.

Special Despatch to Tan Sch Although the skeletonized plot of 'Friendly Enemies' may seem a trifle melodramatic and drawn with an eye to popularity rather than to realism, yet that is not the case. The characters in the play are sketched with a knowledge of human nature that is not frequently noticed either on the stage or though an enterprise in contemporary literature. The play is contemporary literature. The play is not solid rock. It is sincere, and built on solid rock. It is sincere, and built on solid rock. It is sincere, and built on solid rock. Special mespatch to Tan Sus. WARRINGTON, July 22.-Stirred by the report that nearly 40,000 skilled workmen, most of them in New Jersey and New England, are on strike, Senator Thomas (Colo.) in the Senate to-day demanded the immediate reconvention of Congress to enact ironclad anti-strike legislation.

Senator Thomas declared that the peace time efforts of workmen to better their working conditions and obtain more noney usually had his sympathy but that striking at this time was nothing nore nor less than helping the enemy.
"While our troops and our allies' roops are fighting day and night," said Senator Thomas, "It is certainly un-fortunate that we should have workmen striking in this country. It shows at andifference to duty and to the require sents of the times. The failure of the strikers to do their duty is giving aid and comfort to the enemy. It should be treated as such. "These strikers injure our cause in a manner more actual and more terrible manner more actual and more terrible than have the disloyalists. The time has come when Congress should convene and act to meet this situation. Maximum wages should be fixed by law and strikes should be dealt with as other forms of disloyalty are dealt with."

All strikers at this time are profiteers of the worst sort, said Mr. Thomas. He asserted that he stood ready to condemn the small profiteer as quickly as the large the small profiteer as quickly as the large
